Social Justice Work at the Pride Center

Social Justice Greetings!!!

Your social justice committee here at the Pikes Peak Gay and Lesbian Community Center has been working hard for you. For starters, we have listened to you and your concerns and have taken on Magic FM. In recent months we have called Magic on several occasions to explain to them the consequences of negative language about the LGBT community. And though they have not completely stopped their rhetoric and making fun, they have acknowledged our concerns on the air nearly every time they mess up.

What does this do for our community? Well, most importantly when Magic blasts our community it can help to enforce negative stereotypes, force us back into the closet, and make people, especially our youth, feel alone. When Magic acknowledges that we exist, even by saying "the people from the organization that calls every time we talk about gay people doesn't need to call because we didn't mean anything negative by it", then the LGBT community can be assured that they are not alone, and the community-at-large can know that someone out there is standing up. Special thanks goes out to Risa, Carolyn and Jim for their work on this one.

Secondly, the social justice committee worked feverously to get to the bottom of discrimination concerns at Bally Total Fitness. We're told that Bally Total Fitness is frequented by several members of the Colorado Springs LGBT community, and are happy to report that Bally Total Fitness works hard to combat discrimination. They even tell us that sexual orientation is included in their employment nondiscrimination policy!

Finally, Christy informed the committee that this year's Springs Spree denied the PPGLCC a booth. According to Christy, they said they couldn't let us have a booth because if they let us have a booth they would have to let Focus on the Family have a booth. Right. Let them have a booth. See which one draws a cuter crowd! Anyway, the social justice committee contacted the Gazette to have them do some investigating. Though things weren't able to get done this year, Ovetta Sampson over at the Gazette assured us that the matter deserved investigation and would be looked at more thoroughly should it happen again next year. Damn right. If the research proves blatant discrimination against a segment of the community, then with your help, issues will be raised.

If you have any concerns or have faced discrimination, or if you want to join the social justice committee, please contact the Pikes Peak Gay and Lesbian Community Center, or come to a social justice committee meeting. The social justice committee of the Pikes Peak Gay and Lesbian Community Center is here to serve you. To serve our community.

Sincerely,
Ryan Acker - Social Justice Committee Chair

The next meeting of the Social Justice committee will be on Thursday, September 6th, 6pm, at the Pride Center. Please join us.

Thank you!

Pride 2001!

done it without you.
